THE PLANET'S LARGEST SALT FLAT

EXPERIENCE THE WORLD'S LARGEST SALT FLAT, A UNIQUE
AND MYSTICAL LANDSCAPE; A VAST PLAYGROUND FOR THOSE WHO ENJOY PHOTOGRAPHY.

01 UYUNI SALT FLAT

The Uyuni Salt Desert was formed as a result of transformations between several prehistoric salt lakes at over 3,600 meters absl (11,995ft). It magnitude is roughly ¼ the size of Switzerland with an area of 12,000 square kilometers (7,456 sq mi) and growing, according to the Bolivian Geographic Institute. The Uyuni Salt Flat is covered by a few meters of salt crust, and has an extraordinary flatness. Because of this, the Salar is a favorite playground for photographers who experiment with perspective to create amazing images and tricks-of-the-eye.

02

EDUARDO AVAROA ANDEAN FAUNA NATIONAL RESERVE

The Eduardo Avaroa Andean Reserve has a dreamlike, otherworldly beauty, just like its neighbor, the Uyuni Salt Flat. It encompasses glacial salt lakes whose icy waters are stained bright red or emerald green by microorganisms or mineral deposits. It beckons with its snowcapped volcanic peaks, frozen, high-altitude deserts, and strange rock formations similar to those found in Dalí paintings.

There is a wide range of rare Andean wildlife here, including many species rarely seen elsewhere. You can find all three South American species of flamingo, including the world’s largest population of the rare James flamingo, one of the eighty different bird species found in the reserve. You’re almost certain to see large herds of vicuñas, viscachas, and even the elusive Andean fox.

TIWANAKU WAS THE SPIRITUAL AND POLITICAL CENTER OF A POWERFUL PRE-HISPANIC CULTURE. THE ARCHEOLOGICAL SITE FEATURES BEAUTIFUL MONUMENTAL STONE BUILDINGS THAT HAVE SURVIVED FOR CENTURIES.

O4

TIWANAKU

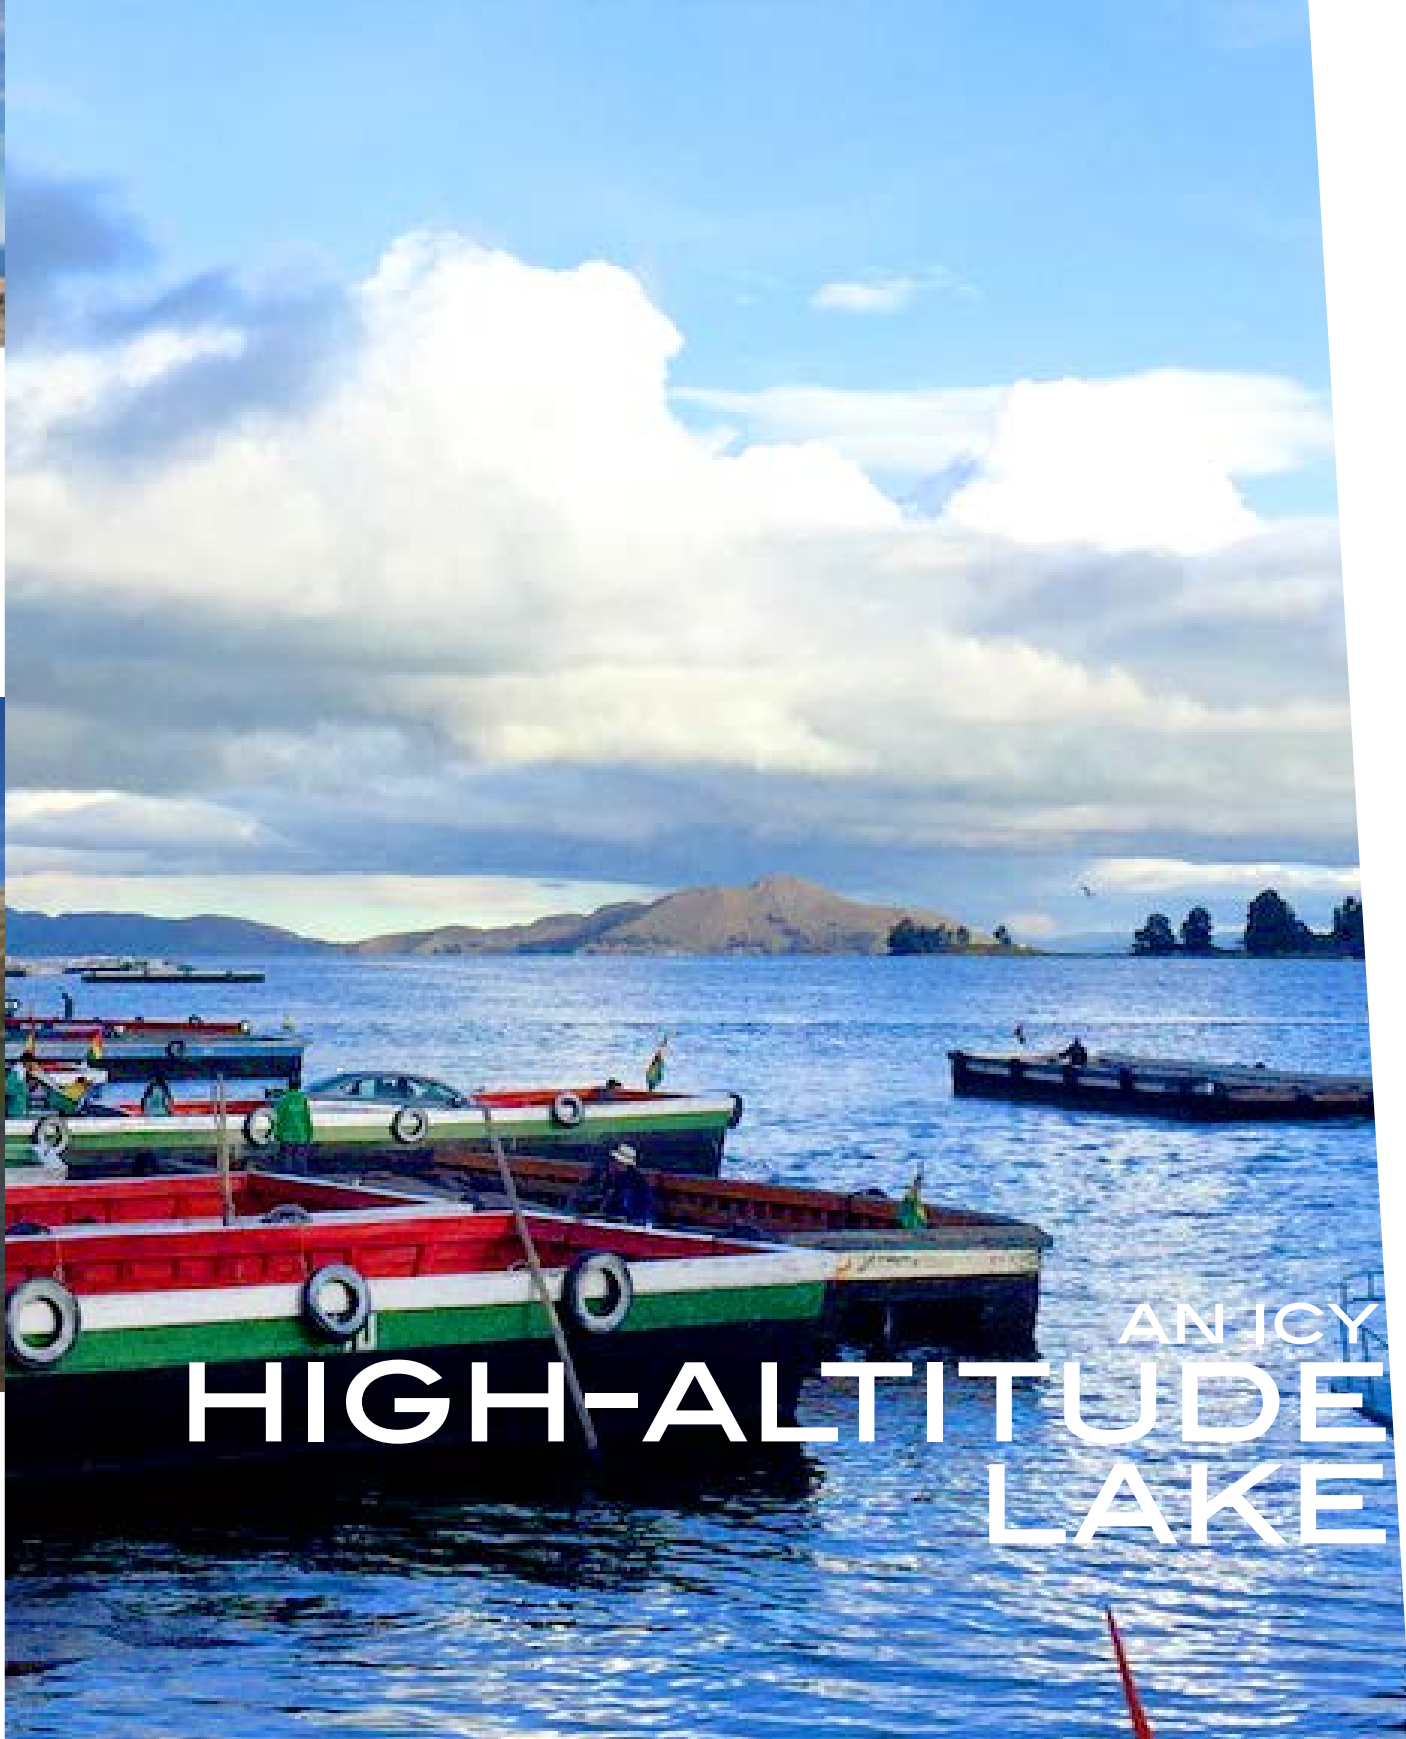

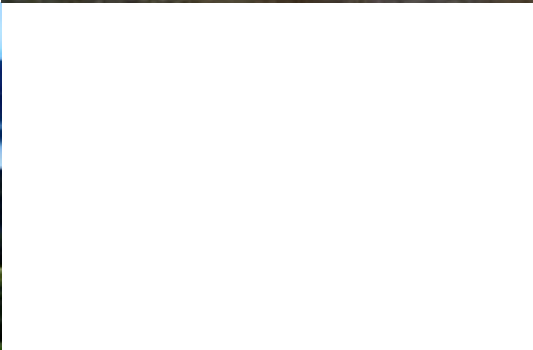

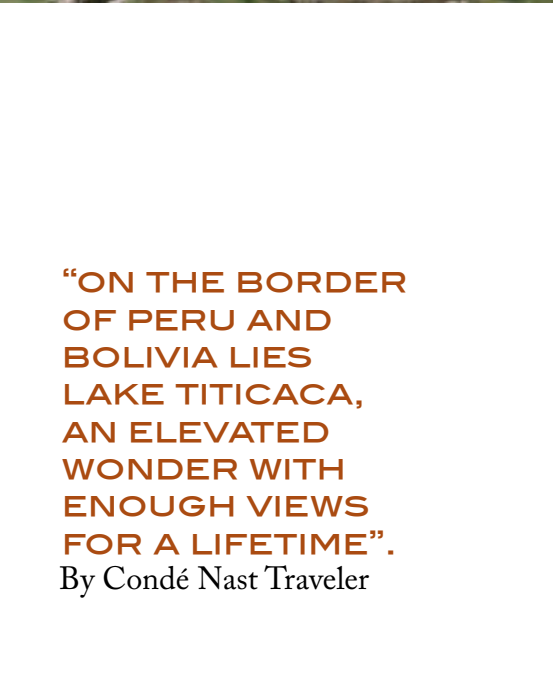

Tiwanaku is a Pre-Columbian archaeological site in the Andes of Bolivia at nearly two thousand miles above sea level. It was the capital of the powerful Tiwanaku Empire that dominated a large area of the southern Andes between 500 and 900 AD.

A POWERFUL ANCIENT CULTURE

“[TIWANAKU’S] MONUMENTAL REMAINS TESTIFY TO THE CULTURAL AND POLITICAL SIGNIFICANCE OF THIS CIVILIZATION, WHICH IS DISTINCT FROM ANY OF THE OTHER PRE-HISPANIC EMPIRES OF THE AMERICAS.”

TAKE IN THE BEAUTY OF LAKE TITICACA, AN ICY HIGH-ALTITUDE LAKE, SAID TO BE THE BIRTHPLACE OF THE SUN GOD OF THE INCA EMPIRE. A PLACE WHERE MAN AND NATURE COEXIST IN PERFECT HARMONY.

LAKE TITICACA

Nestled between the Andean borders of Peru and Bolivia is Lake Titicaca, the highest navigable lake in the world, at 3,810 meters (12,500 ft.) above sea level. Lake Titicaca is said to be the birthplace of the Inca Sun god and the place from which the founders of the Inca Empire, Manco Capac and Mama Ocllo, emerged. It is home to many ruins on its many islands, and it is known for its tranquil and beautifully reflective bright blue waters.

EXPLORE THE COLONIAL CITIES OF BOLIVIA. SUCRE IS ONE OF THE MOST BEAUTIFUL AND POTOSI REMAINS A VISION OF ORNATE BUILDINGS.

SUCRE & POTOSÍ

The Historic City of Sucre, located in central-south Bolivia, was the first capital of Bolivia. It was founded by the Spanish in the first half of the 16th century. Its many well-preserved 16th-century religious buildings, such as San Lázaro, San Francisco and Santo Domingo, illustrate the blending of local architectural traditions with styles imported from Europe. (UNESCO)

The City of Potosí was regarded as the world's largest industrial complex for its modern extraction of silver ore in the 16th century. It became one of the largest and wealthiest cities in the Americas until its mines were depleted. Today, Potosí is worth visiting for its beautiful churches, many decorated in silver, and its ornate colonial architecture.
